

SURVIVAL in History World War I

Brings history back to life.

produced by

Copyright © 2014 Formasette. All Rights Reserved.

GUIDE

Summary:

“Survival in history” is the new television series in which the participants enter into a game of survival!

Six episodes, six historical periods, and our history survivors our main characters who fight to survive!

“Survival in history”, with the aid of historical re-enactors, presents stories of survival from different eras.

“Survival in history” is a reality show, in which the history survivors prove their bravery and ability to survive in various situations. These scenarios are previously organized, with the help of historians, by the production team.

The history survivors must try to survive!

Each episode is set in a specific historical period, in which the men of the time proved beyond a doubt, mans extraordinary power to survive.

The history survivors will be selected from a group of historical re-enactors specializing in that era; participants range from a single re-enactor to friends or even a whole family. However, they all share the same aim, to successfully re-enact the events and situations of the past.

As only within their costumes can they begin to fully understand the past!

The history survivors have to survive by the same means and in the same extreme conditions as those before. Thanks to the team of historians and experienced re-enactors it is possible to recreate and fully experience some unique events from the past, not only the battles and tragic moments, but also the human aspects of that period.

Interviews with the historians will enable the audience to better understand the context within which our history survivors find themselves, and their struggle for survival.

A television series full of culture and suspense, where the protagonists are true fans of survival!

With “Survival in History” you relive the emotions and events of history!

With “Survival in History” the struggle for survival is the story of the men who came before!

The first episode of this amazing television series presents events from the First World War. The following episodes will present other eras, such as, Prehistoric Ages, Slave Trade, Native Americans, The War of Independence and The Middle Ages.

Contato de vendas para o programa

Bio

"Survival in History" is a production by Formasette, a young production company based in Italy, that in the last few years has achieved a high profile through national advertising and television series. Last year, with the entry of the partner Michele Melani, Formasette started to produce for the international market with the documentary 'Near the Sky', which is distributed worldwide through the Vatican State.

Recently they have produced 'Transafrica', a television series consisting of 10 episodes, documenting the adventures of two women who travel alone through Africa on a humanitarian mission. Formasette is ready to present new television series on the international market.

REALITY SHOW - DOCUFICTION

"Survival in History" is a reality show. For every episode the production team selects the protagonists from real historical re-enactors, our history survivors! The history survivors will be put into a specific period of history and in a particular context. They will wear the typical dress of that era, use the same tools or instruments and live as the men of that time.

However, the production staff, thanks to the team of historians and experienced re-enactors, will organize particular trials to test both our protagonist's courage and adaptability. They will live the drama and the difficulties of the men who came before, who with force and determination lived in these extreme conditions.

History is not only battles and drama, history is also full of moments of deep emotion.

"Survival in History" is about reliving the emotions and events of history!

A television series full of culture and suspense, bringing history back to life!

Formasette

GUIDO

FIRST EPISODE

“Survival in History – World War I” is the first episode in this amazing television series and presents events from the First World War.

The history survivors of this episode are two re-enactors specializing in World War I, and both are eager to relive, in the same extreme conditions, the brave efforts of real WWI soldiers. They decide to pass a whole winter in an Austrian location at 2,800 meters.

“Survival in History – World War I” is set on the Italian- Austrian front, amidst the Alps in the Dolomites. This hostile environment meant not only extreme living conditions for the soldiers, but a change in the very nature of their warfare. The battles they fought were truly unique with numerous enemies, even nature itself.

Will our history survivors be able to survive in such extreme conditions?

Will they be able to overcome the trials that they will have to undergo?

Can they really commemorate the struggle of the First World War soldiers?

Survival in History
bringing history back to life!

Still image from the first episode.

Guido Arturo

GUIDO

GENERAL INFORMATION

Title: Survival in History

Genre: Reality show – docufiction

Number of episodes: 6 x 45

(Prehistoric Ages – Slave Trade – Native Americans – War of Independence – The Middle Ages)

First episode: Survival in History – World War I

Duration: 45 minutes

Language: English

Resolution: 1920x1080 Full Hd

Director: Michele Melani

Author: Gottardo Giatti

Production: Formasette Srl

CONTACT

Formasette Srl

Via Druso, 313 B . Bolzano

Italy

Phone: [+39] 0471 194 0120

Fax [+39] 0471 194 0208

mail: info@formasette.com

www.formasette.com

